

Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Interfraternity Council
2022 Recruitment Rules

Preamble

Spirit of Recruitment

Formal Recruitment Rules are created and enforced with the intent of fostering a safe, efficient, and fair Recruitment for the benefit of the Interfraternity Council (IFC) and the entire IFC organization community. They serve to protect the potential new members (PNMs), individual chapters, and the overall interests of the IFC, especially with regards to maintaining a positive relationship with MIT. Any action committed by an IFC organization or member of the IFC to the detriment of another IFC organization, IFC organization member, PNM, or the MIT community is a violation of the Spirit of Recruitment, and the Spirit, rather than the literal interpretation of the rules, shall be enforced. Any information regarding alleged Recruitment violations must be given to the Recruitment Chairman or any Judicial Committee inspector upon request and failure to do so is itself a violation. All questions regarding the interpretation of the rules will be immediately referred to the Judicial Committee for proceedings, and all violators are subject to any and all fines, sanctions, and punishments that the Judicial Committee Chairman deems appropriate.

Failure to comply with these recruitment rules will be treated as forfeiture of the right to participate in Formal Recruitment and host potential MIT students during Campus Preview Weekend (CPW).

Article II - Pre-Orientation

The period extending from the date at which preseason sports begin until the beginning of Orientation (please note the variable nature of these dates) is considered "Pre-Orientation". During this period prior to Orientation, enrolled freshmen arrive on campus to participate in various programs affiliated with MIT. The sole purpose of the freshmen arriving on campus during this time is to participate in their retrospective programs. Ergo, IFC organizations should not interfere with a freshman’s involvement in their objective program nor the relationships that can be made from these programs. To ensure that the Pre-Orientation period is not used for Recruitment, the following rules apply to this period.

1. No freshmen are allowed in any IFC organization house during the Pre-Orientation period.
 - (a) Petitions for exemptions to this rule can be made to the Recruitment Chairman and FSILG office. These petitions must include a written plan, submitted at least two days in advance of the first specific time, detailing the times requested, the events to occur, which fraternities will have members present, and an explanation of why this event must occur. Events must comprise members of at least two fraternities, and be specifically related to varsity sports with pre-season. Final approval must be given by the Recruitment Chairman.
 - i. Petitions may not be made for any date on or after the beginning date of the first on-campus FPOP.
 - ii. Any house petitioning for an event must be dry starting the night before their first event, and must remain dry until the end of Formal Recruitment. The IFC reserves the right to conduct spot checks outside of regularly scheduled alcohol inspections to ensure compliance.

- iii. After approval, the Recruitment Chairman must send notice of the event to all chapter Recruitment Chairs at least one day in advance of the specific time.
2. No IFC organization Recruitment event can be held during the Pre-Orientation period. Activities encompassed by an "event" are defined in the Definitions section of these rules. This includes, but is not limited to, an IFC organization paying for a freshman and taking a freshman off-campus.
 - (a) Petitions for exemptions to this rule can be made in cases of events mandated by varsity sports with pre-season. These require a written plan detailing the event and its participants to be submitted to and approved by the Recruitment Chairman. These events may be petitioned for up to the first day of Freshman Pre- Orientation Programs (FPOPs).
 3. All chapters and their members must comply with all other pertinent MIT rules, as well as rules created by MIT-affiliated programs.
 4. Any IFC organization found in violation of the aforementioned rules will, at minimum, for the first offense, automatically forfeit the opportunity to have jaunts on the Sunday following the Kresge Kickoff and may also be fined at the discretion of the Judicial Committee.
 5. No person associated with an IFC organization shall be near alcohol being served to freshmen.
 6. During the Pre-Orientation period, IFC organization apparel (e.g. letter shirts) may be and is encouraged to be worn, provided that person wearing the apparel is not an Orientation Leader, FPOP Counselor, or International Student Orientation Leader.
 7. IFC organization members may not publicize events with mass advertisement but may advertise by person-to-person communication (e.g. text, messenger, word of mouth). The IFC Executive Board will be the final interpreter of "person-to-person" communication.

Article III - Orientation

The purpose of Orientation is to introduce freshmen to MIT. These rules are designed to ensure that freshmen can explore the entirety of MIT, including, but not limited to, the IFC organization community.

1. The Orientation period lasts from the Sunday preceding the last full week of August until the beginning of Formal Recruitment, see Definitions.
2. Orientation is dry. There can be no alcohol, alcoholic containers, or suggestion of alcohol consumption on the premises of any chapter or living area of a member of the IFC. Houses will be dry for inspection at 9 pm the night before Orientation.

3. No freshmen are allowed in any IFC organization house during this period.
4. No IFC organization may hold an event.
5. No person associated with an IFC organization shall be near alcohol being served to freshmen.
6. All members associated with an IFC organization must obey all additional rules associated with any IFC-sponsored events.
7. During the Orientation period, IFC organization apparel, (e.g. letter shirts) may be and is encouraged to be worn, provided that the person wearing the apparel is not an Orientation Leader.
8. IFC organization members may not publicize events with mass advertisement but may advertise by person-to-person communication (e.g. text, messenger, word of mouth). The Recruitment Chairman will be the final interpreter of “person-to-person communication”.

Article V - Formal Recruitment

Formal Recruitment is a very competitive period and these rules are designed to ensure that the playing field is as level as possible.

Section I - General

1. Formal Recruitment is dry. No alcohol or alcoholic containers may be on the premises of any IFC organization or in the living area of any IFC organization member during this period.
2. Each IFC organization shall provide the Recruitment and Judicial Committee Chairmen at least two telephone numbers that shall be operational at all times.
3. All chapters will provide two alcohol inspectors to the Judicial Committee. The Judicial Committee reserves the right to allow chapters out of providing two inspectors.
4. Postering and chalking will not begin before 8PM the night before Kresge Kickoff.
5. Individual fraternities' Recruitment schedules cannot be mass distributed until the day of the Kresge Kickoff. This includes, but is not limited to, links to chapter websites posted on online forums.
6. At the Kresge Kickoff, an IFC organization can have, at most, 8 associated members present, unless the IFC organization's members are volunteering to set-up the event. In this case, they can have a maximum of 12 associated members present.

7. An IFC organization or any of its associate members cannot take a freshman from the Kresge Kickoff within the first 30 minutes of the event.
 8. No IFC organization may attempt to contact a potential new member between the hours of 3:00 am and 8:00 am, unless the potential new member has given written permission to the specific IFC organization stating that they can contact them earlier. No IFC organization may attempt to physically reach the potential new member during this time (i.e. go to their dorm room and knock on their door).
 - (a) For the purposes of this clause, "written permission" is defined as a handwritten note, a sheet with signatures collected by the IFC organization, an email, or a text message addressed to the Recruitment Chair of the IFC organization.
 - (b) Should a potential new member give permission to the IFC organization to contact them earlier, this communication shall only be done via electronic means such as the phone or the internet.
 - (c) The potential new member may revoke this permission at any time by contacting any member of the IFC organization or the IFC Recruitment Chairman via the same written media outlined in this clause.

Section II - Bids and Acceptance

1. Bids for membership to freshmen and upperclassmen may only be given out starting at 8:00 am on the Friday following the Kresge Kickoff and may only be accepted starting at 8:00 am on the Saturday after.
2. All bids extended during the Formal Recruitment period shall remain open until at least 5:00 pm on the Wednesday after the end of Formal Recruitment. See Appendix for details.
3. Each IFC organization must submit to the Recruitment Chairman records confirming the status of all bids extended within one week of the conclusion of Formal Recruitment or an automatic fine of $500 will be assessed, with an additional $100 fine for each subsequent day the records are still not submitted.
4. After a potential new member has pledged an IFC organization, no other IFC organization may attempt to recruit them.
5. No IFC organization may invite a freshman whose bid is open to an event with alcohol.

Section III - Clearinghouse

1. There are three main purposes of the Clearinghouse system.
 - (a) The IFC will keep track of the movements of potential new members throughout Recruitment, in order to track statistics for later analysis and to ensure that all fraternities are adhering to the same standard.

- (b) Houses have access to a full list of the potential new members which have attended their events, at which time they arrived, and how long they have stayed, so that they can better keep their own records.
 - (c) The IFC will be able to report to MIT and its administration the whereabouts of any freshmen who have been entered in the system, in the case that they cannot be found.
- 2. The Clearinghouse system will be live for PNM check-ins starting at 9:00 am on the day of the Kresge Kickoff and will close at 3:00 am the following Saturday morning.
- 3. Each IFC organization shall enter the following information into Clearinghouse within the first 15 minutes of a potential new member's arrival at an IFC organization.
 - (a) The name of the potential new member being entertained.
 - (b) The times of their arrivals and departures from the IFC organization.
 - (c) When applicable, bids for pledging an IFC organization.
- 4. Potential new members may opt out of the Clearinghouse attendance system by emailing the IFC Recruitment Chairman from their official MIT email. This email must contain the name of the IFC organization that informed them of the opt-out clause. Fraternities are not required to notify potential new members of this option. They are not permitted to opt out of the Clearinghouse bid system.
- 5. Fraternities may be subject to punishments below, if it is determined that they have not been using the Clearinghouse system, or if it can be shown that they are purposely neglecting to scan particular potential new members.
 - (a) If the IFC organization is shown to have not used the system at an event, where it is known that potential new members were in attendance, and this is the first occurrence, then they may be assessed a fine or receive a different punishment, subject to the decision of the Judicial Committee Chairman.
 - (b) If the IFC organization is shown to have not used the system at an event, where it is known that potential new members were in attendance, and this is not the first occurrence, then they may be assessed a fine, lose the right to an event, or receive a different punishment, subject to the decision of the Judicial Committee Chairman.
 - (c) If the IFC organization is shown to have purposefully neglected using the Clearinghouse system with a particular potential new member, then the IFC organization may be subject to sanctions decided by the Judicial Committee Chairman.
 - (d) In the case of any other complaints that may arise, the Judicial Committee Chairman, in consultation with the Recruitment Chairman, shall be the final interpreter of whether or not the case constitutes an infraction, at which point it may be handed over to the Judicial Committee.

Section IV - Schedules and Jaunts

1. Each IFC organization shall subscribe to the schedule of deadlines below concerning their Recruitment schedule. Changes to the final schedule before the due date are acceptable as long as they are reported to the Recruitment Chairman with a valid reason.
 - (a) July 16: House Descriptions. Events.
 - (b) August 1: I3 Videos. Safety Plans.
 - (c) August 15: Final Sched Edits.
2. No IFC organization is to have an off-campus jaunt on the first day of Formal Recruitment.
3. No off-campus jaunts on the second, third, and fourth days of Formal Recruitment are to last more than 8 hours. No exceptions other than legitimate emergencies will be made. The Recruitment Chairman shall be the final interpreter of this rule.
4. No Recruitment activity should interfere in any way with a freshman's classes and should be timed accordingly. No jaunts or other formalized events are to be scheduled between the hours of 9:00 am and 5:00 pm on any Institute day of classes. The Recruitment Chairman will determine if an IFC organization's members interfere.
5. Although multiple jaunts may take place in one day, jaunts that run back-to-back or overlap will be considered a single jaunt with respect to time limits.
6. There must be a two hour buffer period between jaunts in order for the time limitations of a jaunt to be reset.
7. An IFC organization may not return from a jaunt later than 3 am.
8. An IFC organization may not directly interfere with Sorority Recruitment events.

Appendix

1. IFC organization apparel is defined as any item of clothing or accessory with the IFC organization's name or letters written on it.
2. If a chapter is deemed unable to participate in Formal Recruitment, its abilities to hold events, advertise for future events, allow freshmen in their house, or give out any bids will be restricted until Formal Recruitment ends. See Definitions for end of Formal Recruitment.
3. The first alcohol inspections of CPW and the Orientation period, which occur on the nights before their respective starts, will be considered a "dry run", whereby fraternities can ensure that they are in compliance with the rules without threat of punishment.

4. Large established collections of empty alcohol containers are permitted during CPW, Orientation and Formal Recruitment, on the condition that they are registered with the Recruitment and Judicial Committee Chairmen. These will be documented via photographs by the alcohol inspectors on the first night of inspection.
5. MIT-affiliated programs include, but are not limited to, Freshman Pre-Orientation Programs (FPOPs), ASA events, and meetings of MIT Varsity Sports.
6. Bids must remain open until at least 5:00 pm on the Wednesday at the end of Formal Recruitment. If fraternities would like to keep their bids open longer, they must remain dry until their bids close and must notify the Recruitment Chairman of their intentions to keep bids open.
7. The purpose of keeping bids open, at least, until the end of Formal Recruitment is to allow potential new members the time to consider their options and protect them from being pressured into a rushed decision.
8. Orientation Leaders and other volunteers will undoubtedly have more exposure to freshmen during the Orientation period. It is to our benefit as a community to have as many Orientation Leaders and volunteers as possible, but these advantages (which may be unequally distributed) come with the responsibility to not take advantage of the Orientation Program or the Recruitment Rules.
9. The day of the Kresge Kickoff is to be considered an "Open House" day, where freshmen are encouraged to explore as many fraternities as possible. For this reason, there are no jaunts on this day.
