

Dear Members of the IFC Community,

The MIT Interfraternity Council, and all its members herein, would like to show support and love for those, both directly and indirectly, affected by the ongoing conflict in Ukraine. Unjustified war anywhere is unacceptable and will reap countless hardships upon those affected. The conflict in Ukraine is another example of unjust conflict in the world today, and as a global community, the MIT IFC stands with those affected by it.

It is during times such as this that we need to band together as a community. Reach out to a neighbor, a fellow chapter member, a friend, and see how they're doing. Be aware, be thoughtful, and most importantly be active during these times. We all found a home here within the IFC, and it is time to show each other what having a home means to us. If you need a shoulder to lean on, do not hesitate to ask. If you have a shoulder, be prepared to answer.

In the links below you will find ways for you to educate yourself and engage in supporting Ukraine, and the MIT Ukrainian population. Any and all support is welcome and appreciated.

The effects of the conflict in Ukraine spread far and wide across the world, and across the MIT community. So please take care of you and yours with vigilance and love.

Sincerely,

Your IFC Executive Team
